THURSDAY, MARCH 11, 1897.

CITIZEN CLEVELAND.

Since the inaugural ceremonies ex-President Cleveland left Washington on a Southern trip, he goes to Hatteras Inlet where he is spending a few days shooting, and will probably proceed further on for a cruise in Florida waters. The trip will doubtless be a source of great pleasure and relaxation to him after the tremendous pressure of official duties.

Mr. Cleveland has had a rough time as president and it remains for posterity to do him justice. His friends are as warm and loyal to him as his enemies are severe and uncompromising. Whether he is to blame or his opponents in the Democratic party for the defeat of the party and the failure of his administration will be passed upon by an emboldened people, when the passions and conflicting interests of the present leaders in National affairs shall be no more.

The Democratic party had the opportunity to show to the people of this nation for the first time since the war its power and its willingness to redeem the pledges made in the many campaigns of the past.

Mr. Cleveland's first term in office was rendered useless by the Republican majority in Congress. His second term was a failure either on account of his obstinacy or of want of patriotism and party loyalty of the great Democratic leaders in Congress. To the masses of Democratic voters it can make little difference, for the result is the same, and the Republicans being in power and ridiculing the weakness and strifes in the camp.

McKINLEY INAUGURATED.

McKinley has been inaugurated with pomp and enthusiasm, the Republicans will have full control of the National government. His address reads well and the promises appear fair and reasonable from a Republican stand point. He hopes to restore peace and prosperity to the land of the free and the brave. The panacea for all the ills is high tariff, and sound money will come as a tonic. Even, in his address, he expresses doubt of immediate relief, but hopes to bring it in the sweet bye and bye.

He declares for civil service, but in the opinion of the JOURNAL many efficient Democrats will have to seek employment elsewhere, to give McKinley's pets new jobs. Cause, sufficient for Republicans, can be found against any officer to remove him and fill the vacancy with a favorite of the McKinley loaders.

It is to be hoped that McKinley and his Republican Congress will be equal to the emergency, the responsibility is with them and failure can not be charged to the Democrats. The South has little to expect, except a few minor offices, and will not be disappointed in any event.

From Men.

DEAR JOURNAL: As I have not seen anything in your paper from this section in some time, will give you a few dots.

Miss Thoresa Looper is very ill. Joseph Looper is quite ill.

Geo and haw, go on, has been heard on all sides early and late last week.

If it rains a few weeks more the farmers will all have an even start.

In The Assembly.

EDITOR JOURNAL: After having visited your country and realizing the advantages of your people both spiritual and temporal, I am made to wonder why we meet so many who do not love the Lord. As I pass from one community to another I am made to rejoice, I see many neat and comfortable churches which have been erected for worship. And by reference to the minutes of the Twelve Mile River Association, I find that there are thirty-three churches in this Association, valued at $9,350 with a membership of 2,505 with an increase of 117 by baptism. At this rate if the work be equally divided it would require the efforts and influence of 21 baptists to lead one unconverted person to Christ.

Are you not made to ask who is this? I speak more freely to baptists as I am one myself. May I not ask, as a baptist, are we not responsible for the evil of this country till we have done all in our power to impede its progress? Are we not responsible for the peace and happiness of the unconverted until we have used all the means within our reach to bring them to Christ? We are highly favored of the Lord. Think of our houses and lands. Are we not striving to bring up our children in the best grades of society? We are anxious to know that they shall not be hewers of wood and drawers of water, but what about that more important principle which dwells within, that will live when society will be no more. Let us think of our opportunities and then Carey like, undertake great things for God, and expect great things from God.

Brothers of the Baptist denomination, what are your plans for the future? Have you a systematic plan of work in your church? Let us hear from you.

Yours in the work,
ICE MILLS.

Special Meeting.

A special call meeting of the County Board of Commissioners met last Monday, and all present.

A petition was read to change the location of a bridge across Saluda river, known as Farr's bridge, by moving same up the river to or near T. D. Coleman's place. The petition was refused.

M. A. Boggs, as Special Commissioner, presented a written report on change of road near Hughes's mill.

The report of the committee to lay off the new road from here to Liberty was read and M. A. Boggs moved that the action in the report be deferred till the next meeting in April. Motion carried.

In the matter of Margaret Collins and three children, a destitute woman at the poor farm, it was decided that she be kept there until spring advances and she can get work.

Report of T. J. Mauldin on investigation of office bonds read and on motion, that so much of the report as necessary to give intelligible information to succeeding officers, ordered spread on the minutes.

In the matter of unsold bonds of Pickens C. H. fund, and on motion was decided to have them cancelled and filed as record.

The question of moving the Earle bridge came up and several witnesses were present and after hearing all the testimony it was moved and carried that the bridge stay at the old place.

On motion the Supervisor was authorized to have built a levee above the Hunt bridge on Saluda river, so as to preserve the abutments of the bridge.

The Board then took up the consideration of certain claims.

On motion the Board adjourned to meet the first Monday in April.

A Rock Boring Shellfish.

One of the most curious of the many remarkable forms of marine life is a species of mollusk called the razorshell, which can excavate holes in solid rocks. This creature has no English name. Its Latin name is pholas. It is found in widely separated regions of the earth, but is most plentiful on the Mediterranean coast, where limestone abounds.

It is frequently met with on the coast of Italy, where whole limestone are honeycombed with their holes. It is still a disputed point among naturalists as to how this boring is effected. Some think that the mollusk secretes some acid which softens the limestone, but others think that the holes are bored by the simple process of grinding. The preponderance of opinion appears to lie with the latter view at present, yet it is said that no one has yet been able to catch the pholas at work.—St. Louis Republic.

A Desperate Debtor.

Many years ago a man carried to a bank in the midlands that had just failed some bills which it had issued and demanded gold and silver for them. The cashier replied that the bank did not pay gold and silver.

"Give me then," said he, "notes on the Bank of England."

"We have none."

"Then give me bills on any bank in England."

"We have none of them."

The man, growing desperate exclaimed:

"Pay me, then, in the best counterfeit bills you have!"

Just For Fun.

Little George,
Full of glee;
Little ax,
Cherry tree.
Stem papa,
Angry eye;
Frightened kid,
Coudn't lie.
Daddy's knee,
Prostrate lad;
Holly got?
Got it bad.
Moral is,
Never lie;
When you're spanked,
Do not cry.
Gilt your teeth,
No say die;

Gibson's New English Girl.

Charles Dana Gibson, in illustrating a short story that narrates the romance of a Prince, for the March Ladies' Home Journal, has created what he regards as his typical English girl. She is said to be as distinctive and striking as his famous American girl, and while essentially different she is quite as interesting. The drawing will illustrate Robert C. V. Meyer's story "The Morning After the Servia Get in."

Most people take it for granted to be a mineral production, but such is not the case. Singlass is prepared from the air bladders of giant sturgeons, a species of fish which inhabit the Caspian sea, and its tributary rivers. These fish average 25 feet in length, and it is said to take the bladders of 17 good sized ones to make three pounds of the glass.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with mine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates a diseased condition of the kidneys. When mine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and urinate, pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists price fifty cents and one dollar. For a sample bottle and pamphlet, send five cents free by mail, mention THE PRIZE'S JOURNAL, and send your full post-office address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietors of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

Corn

is a vigorous feeder and responds well to liberal fertilization.

On corn lands the yield increases and the soil improves if properly treated with fertilizers containing not under

7% actual

Potash.

A trial of this plan costs but little and is sure to lead to profitable culture.

All about Potash—the results of its use by actual experiment on the best farms in the United States—is told in a little book which we publish and will gladly mail free to any farmer in America who will write for it.
